gun battle here, he reported.

By the Associated Press. Law enforcement officers carried on offenses against criminal gangs on half-a-dozen major fronts Friday, while sporadic skirmishes flamed in several sectors.

The capture of William E. Vidler at Chicago with $2,665 of the ransom paid for the release of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, gave the police hope that a solution to the $200,000 kidnaping was imminent.

John Dillinger and his desperado pals remained at large, but the disclosure that George "Baby Face" Nelson, a member of the gang, had stolen an automobile near Lac du Flambeau, Wis., caused the hunt to be pressed in the northern woods.

Arizona's greatest manhunt, that for the kidnapers of 6-year-old Jane Robles, was abruptly suspended to permit her grandfather to negotiate to permit her grandfather to negotiate

Robles, was abruptly auspended to permit her grandfather to negotiate with the kidnapers.

Reports that a large amount of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom money had been found in New England were denied by the department of justice.

Max Chipman, alleged kidnaper of Herman Rutstein, of Boston, in 1932, pleaded not guilt when arraigned at Boston on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Five robbers, heavily armed, swooped down on the Villa Park (III.)
Trust & Savings bank and fled with $4,000 from the money drawers.

Ludwig "Dutch" Schmidt, wanted in connection with the kidnaping of John Factor, was questioned by the police of Chicago, where he was captured Thursday.

The northern part of California was combed for two desperate convicts, who escaped from San Quentin Word was flashed to police in southwest Michigan that an automobile believed to have been driven by the bandit had been sighted in that area. Sam Miller, a truck driver, who said he once worked with Van Meter before the latter resorted to a livelihood by the gun, reported to state police that the gun, reported to state police that the suspected car containing the fugi-tive and a woman was speeding on United States Highway 181.

State police posts at Jonesville, White Pigeon and other Michigan points were ordered to spread a net.

Heavily armed forces were in full cry on the path down a blind road near Squirrel Lake, Wis., which Nelson was reported to have taken in his frenzied attempt to ende the dogged posses.

Welson, cheruble-laced moisman ac-cused of the slaying of Federal Agent W. C. Baum in the Mercer battle, could not leave the lane in his machine except by the way he had entered it, officials said.

Nelson's flight todoay disclosed that, amazingly enough, he had been hiding for two days in the shack of an Indian, Ollie Catflish, near Lac Du Flambeau, and only 40 miles from the scene of Sunday night's gun battles at Mercer.

Slayer of Officers. Federal operatives were especially anxious to catch Nelson, a five-foot gangster with a face like a cupid and a record for killing and bank robbery, because it was he who they said, killed one of their numbers, agent W. Carter Baum, of Chicago, in one of the Mercer gun battles.

After two days as the unwelcome guest in Ollie Catfish's shack, Nelson walked up to Adolph Goetz, a rural mail carrier who was fishing in a lake near Lac Du Flambeau, pushed a gun into his ribs, and asked, "Is that your car up on the hill?"

Goetz admitted the ownership, handed Nelson the keys, and watched the little desperado walk to the car, prodding Ollie Cartish along ahead with the pistal. The gangster forced the Indian to diepet him to the junction of Highwey 70 and Lac Du Flambeau road, then threw him out of the car. Ollie Catfish walked to own, neg-lecting to inform police or officials of the Lac De Flambeau Indian reser-vation by telephone, but Goets had been more prompt. He checked up the license of his car—Wisconsin 3731— notified sheriffs of near-by counties, and the hunt was on.

At daylight, the search was concentrated on a woods near Filfield, Wis. The posses had tracked the automobile that far. A cautious and thorough search, however, proved that Nelson had fled.

Although there were hundreds of reports that Dillinger gangsters had been seen, sometimes as many as a dozen coming within an hour from widely separated sections, the search centered in the Wisconsin north woods.

centered in the Wisconsin north woods.

Meanwhile, new evidence of Dillinger's cunning came forth at St. Paul as Dr. Clayton May, Minneapolis physician, told how the outlaw leader forced him and a nurse, Mrs. Augusta Salt, to treat him for bullet wounds for four days. He and the nurse had their choice, Dr. May said, of treating Dillinger or dying from machine-gun bullets.

Possible added impetus to the hunt for Dillinger was seen in Washington when the house judiciary committee reported favorably a bill under which the attorner-general would be authorized to pay $25,000 reward for the capture of criminals. At present, the only price on Dillinger's head is $25

ARMS CUT HOPES DIM, SAYS DAVIS

Ambassador-at-Large Reports to Roosevelt on Progress at Geneva.

WASHINGTON, April 27.-(P)-A discouraging report on world disarm ament was given President Rooseveli today by Norman H. Davis, chief American delegate to the disarmament conference, at a meeting at the white house which was also : ttended by Sec-house which was also attended by Secretary Hull.

Davis, who has just returned from Europe, wheer he conferred with Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, and other European officials especially interested in disarmament questions, told reporters after the meeting that he had no immediate plans for returning to Geneva.

Whether he would attend the next disarmament conference meeting called for Geneva on May 29, he said, would depend on developments during the next few weeks.

for Geneva on May 29, he said, would depend on developments during the next few weeks.

The president, Hull, and Davis, all refrained from any official comment on the meeting, but it was learned from authoritative sources that the ambassador-at-large had presented a dark picture of the president.

Despite numerous attempts to arrive at an understanding through a series of bi-lateral conferences, the European nations have been unable to come even close to agreement on reduction of armaments, and Davis, it is said, sees little hope for improvement in the immediate future.

Davis is convinced, authoritative sources revealed, that the people of Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and other European nations do not want war, but that remains almost the only bright spot inthe entire European disagmann problem.

The Roosevelt administration has been spending something like $5,362,000 a day, on the average, for relief.
Records of the emergency relief administration showed today that approximately $1,350,00000 has been turned into relief channels since the first "new deal" relief appropriation on May 12, 1933.

If he did, did Miss Burroughs know of the full amount of his contribution?

If so, "did these two defendants, by a combination or a conspiracy, make up their minds that they weren't going to report this money?"

And if they made up their minds to that act, did they carry it out?

Repeatedly, Justice Gordon warped the jury:

"You can't find one guilty without finding the other guilty; if one is not guilty the other is not guilty."

The defense had repeatedly stressed the argument that Jameson gave $65,300 to Bishop Cannon—of which the government charges only $17,300 was reported—to be speat in what manner the churchman chose in his fight against the election of Smith. Cannon, said his attorneys, his witnesses and himself spent only $17,300 for campaign activities outside Virginia, that therefore only that amount was reported to the clerk of the house of representatives pursuant to the federal corrupt practices act. The balance, said the defense, went to the fight within the Virginia democratic party.

Bishop Cannon took guiltic cognisance tnight of his acquittal with a formal statement which said "political opponents have attacked me" and with an amertion of his intention to continue to fight for prohibition.

The churchman thanked friends who had contributed to his fight in the court procedure.

"I firmly believe," he said, "that the beverage liquor traffic is a national law and shall continue to fight to secure local, state and national prohibition of that evil,"

Vinson Academy Bill Cannon's Acquittal Brings Given Right of Way

WASHINGTON, April 27—(A)
The Vinson bill providing for commissioning of all graduates from the naval academy at Annapolis this year and for the retirement and promotion of naval officers through a selection system was given right of way in the house today by the rules committee.

Another Vinson bill providing for selecting, promotion and retirement of marine corps officers also was given legislative perference.

Chairman Bankbead, democrat, Alabama, of the rules sommittee, said Chairman Vinson, democrat, Georgis, of the naval committee, had withdrawn his resolution, which would have provided for a congrassional survey of army, navy and commercial aviation. in Washington "is a verdict that I in Washington "is a verdict that I was expecting."

Bishop Warren A. Candler, Atlanta, Ga., senior member of the church's College of Bishops, when informed of his colleague's acquittal, said: "It would be out of order for me to say anything."

Bishop Collins Denny., Richmond, Va., also refused to comment.

The College of Bishops is here for the quadrennial conference of the Metbodist church.

SOAKING WASHINGTON, April 27.—The administration did not lift its little finger to stop the senate plan for soaking the rich in the new tax bill. Instead, its henchmen in the soaking the rich in the new tax bill. Instead, its henchmen in the house surrendered to the senate after only a polite struggle in the secret conference committee. The surrender came so fast, reports got around that the administration secretly wanted to experiment with the senate plan for a year or so. Administration men rushed into print with denials of such reports, but the actions of the conference committee spoke louder than the denials.

If President Roosevelt signs the bill, it will mean that we are going to experiment with a tax theory which goes at least 65 per cent of the way toward confiscation of great wealth.

JAPAN The Japanese situation has been played down publicly to allay undue excitement, but President Roosevelt has personally devoted more time to it in the last few days than to any other single subject.

His main difficulty was to get a copy of the new Japanese protectorate policy over China.

The state department combed the world for it without success. The private excuse offered by the Japanese foreign office was that it was an oral statement and no copies existed. News correspondents in Tokyo whispered to the American embassy there that the foreign office minister, who announted the policy to them, read his words from several sheets of paper.

FIGHT The administration labor crowd has fallen out over the labor board bill.

The trouble started when Donald Richberg, the great labor law-

The bill also will make Miss Perkins' labor department a important factor than it now is. She has been smarting at the whispers of the labor leaders that her department is "nothing more than a statistical bureau."

Richberg has been working in cahoots with General Johnson on the labor board bill. Not long ago, Johnson sent out a private order to his local NRA boards advising them to settle labor troubles. Those who favored the general labor board idea thought the order was an attempt to muscle in on labor board territory.

It was noteworthy also that the Fisher body manufacturers walked straight past Mr. Roosevelt's new automobile labor board and took their recent strike troubles to the NRA.

That sounds all right, but love isn't made to order. It slips up on you. Young people much together may fall in love despite their first indifference or dislike. You may think yourself too smart to do anything like that, but millions have done it and you are as human as they.

The giving of dates is playing with fire, whether you realize it or not, and the only safe rule is never to go with a youngster a second time if he is the kind you would be ashamed or afraid to marry.

I am not a puritanical crank, and I concede that grown-ups who pay their own expenses have the inalienable right-to make fools of themselves in their own way, so long as they injure nobody else; but young men acquainted with vice are dangerous playmates and I urge you to keep away from them. Some of them may clean up and stay clean as they grow into manhood, but an equal number will continue as they began.

And many of them, outwardly respectable, will be diseased or enslaved by habit before they are wise enough to "settle down."

If all youngsters were tarred with the same stick, advice to let them alone would be wasted effort; but there are many, schooled in honor and decency since childhood, that are just as clean and blameless as the best of your girl friends. men with no knack for drawing funny pictures themselves have originated and copyrighted comic-strip ideas which remain their property and pay them royalties far beyond the earnings which they were able to make at copy reading, ad writing or magazine work. Some simple, incredibly goofy little notion which in a magazine office would not get past the first reader may be genius for the purposes of the funny papers and keep a man in caviar and a penthouse for the rest of his life.

It would be impossible, of course, to generalize on the origins of comic-strip artists, but there are a lot of mischievous characters among them who first began to express themselves by drawing insulting pictures of their school teachers on the black-boards when they were very young. There have come along, also, however, a class of graduate art department office kids who rose from the status of errand boy to that of forger, inking and lettering strips for the big-money artists, and, in time, were able to draw long noses and receding chins and start comic strips of their own.

I have suggested to James A. Farley, the postmaster-general, that in building new postoffices he ought to recognize frankly that the comic strip is the American kind of art and adorn the buildings with sculpture and murals of this type. I do not think he quarreled with the idea, but there are reasons why the suggestion cannot be adopted. For one, the

Comment at the Capital

A comic strip editor informs me that the strip has been traced back to some ancient picture writings and to some of the oldest tapestries in the world. These picture stories were largely wham-socks in character and scenes are found in them, says he, depicting one person clouting another over the head with a club, which are almost interchangeable with the final panels of some of the most uproperious modern funny pictures. The newer, tragic type of scenario he compares to the Victorian novel and finds a strong similarity.

Maybe it is an excellent demonstration by the president of courage and friendship for Dr. Tugwell, who is a likeable person and as conscientious a radical as Washington has ever received from the pinkish world of "isms." But, somehow, the thought keeps recurring that maybe, some day, somehow, it will be regretted that the issue was brought up at this particular stage of political preparations for the fall campaign.

the governor or any one."

Senator Tuten was chairman of the special committee which recommended the removal of Dr. O. B. Howell, chairman of the board of county commissioners, and officials of the Butts prison camp on the charge that convicts had been used for personal services and prisoners had been strung up by the hands and feet for infractions of the rules.

Dr. Howell yesterday branded the report "as untrue and framed for political purposes" and laid responsibility for the committee findings at the door of Governor Talmadge.

He also threatened to oppose the governor for renomination if no other candidate entered.

Senator Tuten, in a statement today, said that "the investigation of the affairs of the county chain gang system of Butts county was full and free by a senate sub-committee which committee was appointed at the beginning of the last session of the senate and its investigation in Butts county uncovered the illegal use of prisoners at that camp without thought of politics or suggestions from the governor or any one."

In his statement yesterday Dr. Howell said:

Reviewing the Shows

By RAIPH T. JONES.

Busy day Friday around the amusement marts. Four leading theaters checked in with new programs. Loews Grand, the Fox, the Paramount and the Georgia. For detailed comment on these read a little further.

The Capitol offers its new show on Sunday, including both stage and screen. On stage a native mountaineer show entitled "Barnyard Frolics." On screen an MGM production, "Lazy River" with Jean Parker and Robert Xoung.

Young.

The Rialto comes in today with its new program, "Whirlpool," a Columbia picture, with Jack Holt and Jean Arthur heading both wings of the cast.

New show at the Atlanta is offered beginning Monday, a burlesque entitled "Whoops, My Dear."

Tarzan at Grand.

Johnny Weismuller demonstrates anew, on the screen at Loew's Grand theater, that he is incomparable as Tarzan, the fantastic apeman creation of Edgar Rice Burroughs. Personal reaction Friday, after the first show, was that this was more thrilling than the previous Tarzan picture. Perhaps perspective will alter that opinion later.

Maureen O'Sullivan is again the Maureen O'Sullivan is again the Jane, the girl who throws away civilization in order to stay in the jungles as Tarzan's mate. The romantic serret death valley of the elephants again plays an important part in the production and there are innumerable life and death struggles between Tarzan and various forms of African carnivora. You can guess who is the winper in each combat.

The human menace is provided by a particularly feroclous looking tribe of cannibals, aided by some underhand skullduggery on the part of one of the white men in the cast. Whole regiments of lions come in to add their lethal abilities to the wholesale slaughter at the end and then a vast herd of elephants, obeying the behest of Tarzan, routs the lions. And Tarzan and his Mate" are left alone to enjoy their prolonged honeymoon in the primeval fastness.

Highspots are the under-water fight between Tarzan and a huge trocodile and the way Maureen O'Sullivan leaps from high trees, confident he will catch her below. And, to quote Christopher Ward, when the bullet struck Tarzan in the forehead, "it bounced, thank God, it bounced."

Brown in Runyon Story.

Joe E. Brown, with the over-size mouth, essays a rather more realistic role in his new picture at the Georgia than is customary for him. It is a story by Damon Runyon, titled "A Very Honorable Guy," and is all about a gambler who agrees to deliver his own corpse within 30 days, to a mad doctor, in return for an advance payment of $1,000.

How he turns the thousand into a fortune and how, on the eve of his wedding, he is called to make good his pledge, provides the situation. Alan Dinehart is excellent as a gangster chief who "underwrites" the contract and sends his henchmen out to make sure it is fulfilled.

Alice White plays the role of a gold-digging litle blond who is frightfully in love with her boy friends when he has money but who "throws the lug out on his ear" when he is broke. Audiences with any imagination must shudder to think what the hero's married life must be after the wedding bells finish ringing.

There is a particularly interesting short subject on the Georgia program this week, one of those "Magic Carpet" shorts. This time it is Calcutta and, lacking finances for a trip to those romantic oriental spots, there is nothing better than a trip by camera and sound recorders.

Whirlpool" at Rialto

Has Jack Holt as Star "Whirlpool" with Jack Holt in the starring role, one of the latest Costarring role, one of the latest Co-lumbia releases, opens at the Rialto-theater tomorrow. Saturday. This dra-matic story provides one of the most realistic and genuine plots ever giv-en Holt and its interplay of human loves and sacrifices is of the type that should not only delight regular Holt fans but prove pleasing to all theatergoers who like a true to life story with suspense and action throughout.

The story was written by Howard Emmett Rogers and the picture di-rection was in the hands of Roy Wil-liam Neill. Lila Lee and Jean Arthur liam Neill. Lila Lee and Jean Arthur portray the principal feminine characters, with Donald Cook providing the masc line love interest. Others in the cast include Allen Jenkins, Rita La Roy, John Miljan, Willard Robertson. etc.

It is the story of a man whose life is largely sacrificed for the happiness of those he loves, his wife and daughter, and the climax is one of the most powerful pieces of dramatic plotting the screen has seen for a long time. In addition to the feature Manager W. T. Murray has secured a group of unusually suitable short subjects to round out an exceptionally alluring program for the week.

Like the legendary "undead" in the lore of vampires, the dog which Dr. Robert E. Cornish killed and revived 14 days ago in an experiment, continued to breathe, eat and move today but in the manner of a creature neither dead nor alive.

The physical functions of the animal appeared much like those of a living thing but death continued its tenacious hold on some sections of the brain governing the more delicate sensibilities, said the scientist who is working in the hope that some day his methods may help to restore human beings to life.

On Friday. April 13. Dr. Cornish asphyriated the dog at 3:58 p. m. At 4:08 p. m. the animal was prenounced dead according to medical standards, Dr. Cornish said.

Sanford Assured That $3,000,000 Allotment Will Be Released to System.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, April 27 .- After a series of conferences with public works officials, President S. V. Sanworks officials, President S. V. Sanford, of the University of Georgia, today was given definite assurance that steps will be taken within the next few days to clear the way for final action on the $3,000,000 fund that has been allocated for permanent improvements in the University System of Georgia.

Dr. Sanford, who was accompanied to Washington by Dean H. W. Caldwell, of the University of Georgia Law school, and Phillip Weltner, chancellor of the state university system, succeeded in getting a definite commitment from PWA officials as to the legal steps next to be taken in bring-

Law school, and Phillip Weltner, chancellor of the state university system, succeeded in getting a definite commitment from PWA officials as to the legal steps next to be taken in bringing the important project to a head. Because of a question raised by attorners of the public works administration as to the authority of the board of regents to borrow funds, officials have insisted that a test case be initiated to settle the issue involved. As a result of the several conferences of Dr. Sanford, it is now expected that the way will be prepared for instituting such a test case immediately.

Dr. Sanford, who spent the entire day at the public works administration.

day at the public works administra-tion going over details of the state project with officials, said he was much gratified with the progress made and predicted that final legal steps preliminary to actual construc-tion operations would be accom-plished soon.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sullivan, of 22 West Wesley avenue, were named defendants in a $100,000 damage suit filed in city court Friday by Mrs. Lila C. Morgan, who alleges that she was injured on May 3, 1928, when riding as a guest in Mrs. Sullivan's automobile. According to the complaint the accident occurred when Mrs. Sullivan lost control of her car returning from Rome, Ga., and the plaintiff received fractures of the ribs, leg and spine.

It is related in the suit that Mrs. Sullivan, who was then living in New York and Florida, left Atlanta two weeks after the accident and that since that time the defendants have resided in Europe and New York, and have secreted themselves out of the state until 18 months ago, when they came to Atlanta to live.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK. A question put in a rather amusing way appears in this letter:
"Dear Uncle Ray: I would like you to please tell me if the cannibals of Africa still eat white people for dessert. I keep a scrapbook of your stories.

Yours sincerely, "THOMAS R. W. MOFFATT." I answer your question, Thomas, by saying, "Not if the white people can help it."

That answer points to something important—whites have learned about the customs of certain tribes, and are very careful about going into regions where they would be in danger. I have heard of no case for many years of a white person being eaten by a cannibal in Africa.

Cannibal in Africa...

Once it was the custom for human flesh to be sold in west-central Africa, but this has been ended. It is believed that a certain amount of cannibalism still goes on among a few tribes in central Africa; but, if so, it is small compared with former times.

Any form of cannibalism

so, it is small compared with torner times.

Any form of cannibalism is horrible but it is some relief to know that the victims have been, in large part, those who were killed in battle and those who died natural deaths.

Cannibalism is gone, or almost gone, not only in Africa but also in every other section of the earth where savage tribes practiced it in past centuries. The world has grown better in that way, as in many other ways.

ways.

In the course of a fairly long letter, Eleanor Wildfong writes:

"I would like to know very much what in North America is most poisonous, and what one is the most dread ed."

I believe that the rattlesnake is both the most poisonous and the most dreaded at the present day, taking the continent as a whole. In former times the grizzly bear was greatly feared by people of the Rocky mountain region; but danger from such bears does not loom so large at present—they are fewer in number, and those which are left seem to have learned that it is best to keep out of reach of the white man's rifle.

The puma, or mountain lion, is dangerous enough; but not many persons wander through the districts where they live.

wander through the districts where they live.

Rattlesnakes, on the other hand, remain a serious danger. They haunt mountains, prairies and some of the forests of Canada, the United States and Mexico. The claim that they strike people only to defend themselves may be true; but that is no guarantee that you will not walk near one of them and make it believe that it is "defending" when it strikes. Largest and perhaps most dreaded of all rattles is the diamond back found in southeastern parts of the United States. It reaches a length of eight feet.

BACKS ACCUSED MILLS
HARRIMAN, Tenn., April 27.—(4)
Protesting the "enforced removal" of the Blue Eagle from the Harriman Hosiery Mills, 56 business and professional men of Harriman have taken down their Blue Eagles.

Their action was announced in a telegram sent to President Roosevelt and NRA Administrator Hugh S. Johnson. The telegram was made public by S. K. Johnson an automobile dealer. It declared that "if the mill is not permitted to operate under the NRA emblem, advise us where to send ours."

The hosiery mill turned in its Blue Eagle on the demand of the NRA. Administrator Johnson saying the NRA compliance board concurred in NRA emplance board concurred in the Sunday morning.

MILLEDGEVILLE CHARGE HEARD BY REGENTS

The board of control Friday held a hearing on charges of C. B. McCullar, Milledgeville lawyer, that patients at the state hospital were underfed and that employes were guilty of stealing milk from the asylum dairy.

Chairman E. E. Lindsey said that about a score of witnesses were presented, a number of them dismissed employes of the hospital. The board deferred action on the charges.

Dr. R. U. Swint, hospital superintendent, answered charges that patients were underfed by producing a copy of the average weekly menu. He also made an affidavit asserting that the few patients who work at the institution were given daily physical examination before being given any duties.

The charges were heard at an executive session of the board.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT. The Jay Walker rarely indulges in willfulness at his own expense."

The foregoing excerpt is from an editorial in a nationally known periodical. It points out one of the greatest hazards of the HARRIMAN SITUATION street. Without thought of the consequence a pedestrian steps off of the curb in the middle of the block, dodging between cars, confusing motorists and inviting accidents.

> Jay Walker vs. Motorist-on the one hand, the fellow who is lazy or in a hurry or holds that taking a chance is his concern alone. On the other hand, the fellow engaged in the serious business of driving his car, recog nizing responsibility for the lives and property of others as well as his own. In this case, the common sense verdict favors the motorist. The Jay Walker is selfish because he endangers the lives of others.

The path of the Jay Walker leads to destruction. Avoid it. Follow the safe route—walk to the intersection—AND WHEN YOU CROSS THE STREET CROSS WITH THE TRAFFIC—NOT AGAINST IT.

Don't be a Jay Walker.

to purchase 1,000,000,000 ounces of silver.

Mr. Roosevelt, as previously indicated, said "no" to the conferees, said they gained the impression he thought a central monetary authority might be worth considering some time in the future. The president also reiterated his opposition to any legislation that would compel him to remonetize silver. Consequently, the Goldsborough bill probably will be buried by the committee.

United States money now totals $6,700,000,000 and of this only $822,-000,000 is silver or backed by silver. Treasury records show there are $497,-000,000 of silver certificates in circulation: $35,000,000 of silver dollars, and $290,000,000 of subsidiary silver coins.

What plans Mr. Roosevelt may have for adding to this comparatively small amount of silver money were not disclosed.

Georgia Fields And Streams By H. A. Carter.

At last I have been able to track my little chipmunk to his lair. I think I mentioned seeing him for the think I mentioned seeing him for the first time some weeks after he had left off his winter hibernation. His coat disappeared through a 'angle of roses just ahead of me the other day. I knew that if he were true to his raising he would stop on the curb of the driveway on the other side of the roses to be sure the coat was clear of cats and dogs before he streaked on across. Therefore I made a semi-silent circuitous course and age the drivecircuitous course and gave the drive-way a scanning with the binoculars which revealed Tamias himself just as I expected to see him. He realized of course that the thorns

He realized of course that the thorus at his back were sufficient protection against an enemy so relatively elephantine as myself, but he wanted to be certain that nothing new was waiting on the other side. Finally he arched his way along to the other side of the drive, gave the world another examination, saw me, and disappeared. "If," I reasoned, "he is out of sight to me, I suppose I am out of sight to him. I'll see how close I can get to him."

When I arrived at the point of his When I arrived at the point of his disappearance, however, nothing was to be seen except the bare earth. Upon lifting a fallen bit of wood his avenue of escape was revealed. One of the entrances to his underground home was revealed. I sat down on the driveway and laughed at the cleverness of the fellow. He had made no runway where a dog might dig him out, but his entire awatem of runways formed his entire system of runways formed a network beneath the concrete of the drive. That, methought, is adapting one's self to the changing of the habi-

Come to think of it, the chipmunk needs the advantage of a concrete roof, with as many cats on that street as there are. Let me see one of those cats stalking my chipmunks and I'll not be responsible for what happens. Personally, I wouldn't give one family of chipmunks for all the cats in Atlanta, prize Persians or what not inlants, prize Persians or what not included.

This spring and summer will give me a chance to carry on a conquest of the chipmunk's fear. One of the greatest thrills I have ever had was in north Michigan when I coaxed one of the lyster's chipmunk's to accept salted pecans from my fingers in less than an hour. Here, where cats and dogs and automobiles and children with air many companions. guns combine to make life miserable for small animals and to fill their heads with confusion, it may take me

3-Judge Court to Hear Railroads' Plea Today

A three-judge federal court today will hear the application of the 33 Georgia railroads for an order enjoining the public service commission from putting its new class rate reduction order into effect May 1.

The court will be composed of Circuit Judge Richard N. Walker and District Judges E. Marvin Underwood and William I. Grubb.

The commission order, if not enjoined, will lower class freight rates on intrastate shipments by about 27 per cent.

per cent.
Assistant Attorney-General John T.
Goree announced Friday that the commission's answer, requesting a denial of the injunction order, would be filed with the court this morning.

SLUM CLEARANCE PLAN

TURNED DOWN BY PWA

PWA officials in Washington Friday announced that petition of the Home Improvement League, Atlants, for a slum clearance project had been turned down, but that the action would have no effect on Techwood, Inc., and the University Housing Corporation projects for Atlanta, for which acquisition of land already is under way. The two latter projects are being prosecuted by the federal government.

Mayor James L. Key, just before leaving Friday for a week's vacation trip to Sea Island Beach, named a special committee composed of Alderman G. Everett Millican, Ed A. Gilliam and J. Sid Tiller and Councilmen John A. White and William G. Hastings as a liaison committee to act with Techwood, Inc., trustees.

Meet on Sunday.

Atlanta unit of Junior Hadassah meets on Sunday afternoon, April 29, at 3 o'clock at the Jewish Educational Alliance. The president, Miss Lillian Reisman, will discuss tentative plans for the Bar Mitspah party that National Junior Hadassah will celebrate in the near future. It is requested that all members submit ideas at this meeting as this event will be one of last affairs given by the organization on this year's work.

The nominating committee will submit the proposed slate of officers for next year, and Miss Ozng Tontak, cultural chairman, will report on the progress of the Zionist class which has been one of the outstanding activities of the unit this year. She will also discuss plans for the part that Junior Hadassah will take in Palestian day, which is to be held under the auspices of the Jewish Educational Alliance on May 6. An interesting program has been arranged by Miss Bess Lutzky, program chairman, and Miss Ozna Tontak.

Nancy had an idea of what she would like to do to her mother's bathroom. It had been built at the time when pastel colors were "the thing" to use.

The walls were of pale orchid tile.
The ceiling had been painted a pale green. The walls between the tile and ceiling were a misty lavender. The tub, toilet-seat, wash basin were of

So far as color scheme of green little to say against it.

But it had grown tiresome to with. The indefinite colors had gotten on her mother's nerves.

Consequently Nancy hailed with glee a bathroom in that same exhibition house that she had visited three times within a week. In this room the floor and walls to wainscoting height were

This afternoon, from noon until 5:30 o'clock, seven beautiful Atlants gardens will be open to the public, in the second of the series of three garden turns sponsored by the woman's nuxiliary of Egleston hospital, the other taking place on May 5. The lickets may be procured at the entrances of the gardens and are 50 cents for the seven gardens. Mrs. Beverly DuBose is president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Lon Grove is chairman of the garden tours; Mrs. Jesse Draper and Mrs. Philip L'Engle are her able assistants. Mrs. Calvin Prescott is chairman of gates, with Miss Lundye Sharp, co-chairman for the day. Mrs. Russell Bellman has charge of the Girl Scouts.

"Lane's End," the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Cam Dorsey, 2789 Habersham road, is approached by a lane 350 feet long. It is almost completely hidden by a beautiful luxuriant planting of shrubbery. The "Little Hillside garden" of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fleming and Miss Nellie Hightower, 2602 Peachtree road, is unique in its display of native azaleas. The garden is arranged in terraces, the first of which is filled with white azaleas and gardenias. The next level is reached by circular stone steps, and from this terrace down the natural slope to the rear of the garden, along either side of the path are great masses of native azaleas in shades of pale pink, some reaching a height of eight or tenfeet. Down this path one approaches the rockery, and discovers an open space with beds of the loveliest of spring flowers. Benches are placed along the paths where guests may sit and enjoy the vistas of hillsides. At the gates of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming and Miss Hightower's garden will be Misses Susan Jones, Peggy Fuller, Scott Meador and Mrs. Jim Williams.

Garden at Pine Hill.

Garden at Pine Hill.

Between thick hedges of abelia and past a rock garden among the pines is set the ivy-covered stucco house of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, on Wesley road. A flower garden is placed to the west, with box-edged borders. This is connected with the woodland of this 20-acre tract, which leads down to the ravine. Through the ravine and wild garden are bridges, stepping stones and tea house made of native stone. This use of stone is in keeping with natural pictures formed by the wealth of wild flowers and shrubbery found in the ravine. Misses Frances Morton and Patsy Thayer will be at the gates of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell's garden.

In direct contrast to the natural-woodland beauty of Pine Hill is the beautiful garden of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kiser, "Knollwood." This garden is shaped and molded by the skilled human hands into formal terraces back of the north portice of the lovely Georgian house, which stands on an oak-shaded hill. These terraces are reached by flagstone steps, each terrace marked by graceful junipers and massed with lovely pastel shades of spring flowers, all with a background of evergreen and blooming spireas. At the gates of Mr. and Mrs. Kiser's garden will be Miss Laura McGinty, Miss Jane McMillan and Miss Edith Kendrick.

The gardens and especially the formal gardens that surround the stately home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson P. Dick are a striking illustrition of use of gardens as almost an integral part of the architecture of the house. Also ther show how intriguing and salisty. Garden at Pine Hill.

Dick are a striking illustrition of use of gardens as almost an integral part of the architecture of the house. Also they show how intriguing and satisfying a garden may be, even without color, if the plan in itself is a thing of beauty. There are beautiful old specimens of boxwood and boxwood border plantings surround the formal flower beds. Leaving these gardens one reaches a cutting garden down a woodland walk beside a flowing stream. At the gates of these gardens will be Miss Betty Roach and Miss Laura Whitner.

Georgia Tech chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi gives a dance at the Standard Club this evening. Sewell Garden.

cachtree Battle avenue of English colonial wide white shingles in its set-ting of pine trees and spacious lawn with its old boxwoods, Cherokee flag-stone terraces and winding paths, gives with its old boxwoods, Cherokee flagstone terraces and winding paths, gives one the true spirit of a garden peace. One enters the formal garden from the main hall of the house. Here the color scheme has been worked out in pastel tones of pink, blue and yellow; hleeding hearts, pink axaleas, pink tulips, columbines, myriads of blue phlox and yellow pansies, primroses and llly-flowered yellow tulips. Centering the four formal beds is a green turf carpet with a pool sending its spray of water into the sunshine from its lead water lily lying in its lead pads. Looking beyond the formal garden one catches an enchanting vista of a wild garden of native axaleas, pastel pinks, creams, whites, great splashes of pigments in the oranges and yellows. Here a cool retreat bids one linger awhile to hear the cardinals and mockingbirds sing. At the gates of the Sewell gardens will be Miss Lundye Sharp and Miss Mary Manning McNeil.

The beauty of the garden of Dr. and Mrs. R. G. McAliley, on the corner of Peachtree Battle avenue and North Side drive, which formerly belonged to Mrs. McAliley's grandfather, Judge Clark Howell, has been enhanced by rustic treatment and naturalistic planting. Approaching from North Side drive the first view is a sunken meadow with a grove of willows at one end, from which the name Willowdale, is derived. Bordering the meadow are many varieties of hardwood and flowering trees interspersed with dogwoods, crabapples and Judas trees. The formal garden, intimately connected with the house, is enclosed Officers of the Hi-Hat Club will sponsor a benefit dance for the Spanish War Veterans this evenign at Garber's hall at 59½ Peachtree street.

Was strong as steel, this turns out to be of insubstantial stuff?" Well, the answer to that is that worry does not rebuild your wall but instead it unfits you for the work of rebuilding. Says the woman whose earnings are weep away. "How can I refrain from worrying about a dependent old age for which there is now no provision?" Just by the use of reason, by forcing yourself to realize that futile effort or worry about losses, time wasted in grieving over misfortune, strength dissipated in nursing the phantom fear, will not make provision for old age. Those bonnie, bonnie Crackers are tied for third place this

(Was it just yesterday that there was loud lamentation in the land about the Crackers?)

What's wrong with a ball club tied for third place? It's just early, pals. That's all. Early. The boys are getting in shape. Too many of them missed a part of the spring train-Clabaugh, of the Crackers, for instance. He will be in shape two or three weeks hence. Others are just rounding

It is quite true, my constituents, that games won now count just as much as games won in August. But the fact is all the boys are just jockeying for position. By the time two more weeks have passed we will be able to really get an idea about this race.

By that time the young phenoms, who went out in the pas-ture and played ball all winter, will have settled down to their real pace. And the old-timers, who don't get going until later, will be hitting their real pace. And then we shall see what we

THE SHOT-PUT RECORD.

Shall we sigh for the good old days when men were men? Or shall we turn to the shot-put record set yesterday by Jack Torrance, of Louisiana State University, in the Drake

Now there is a comparison about which there can be no argument. The sprinters of yesterday claim that the watches are better than they used to be; that the tracks are better constructed, and that other mechanical aids help the runners.

But the shot put offers no arguments. They put a fellow in the ring, give him a shot weighing 16 pounds, and let him toss it. There can be no mechanical aids to that. It is a matter of fine co-ordination, timing and power. There are no improved watches, tracks or what not involved. The tape they measure with has 12 inches to the foot just as it did in the good old days.

In 1876 one H. E. Buermeyer, of the New York. Athletic Club, established the world's record for the shot put at 32 feet 5 inches.

Ten years later it was set at 42 feet 1 1-4 inches. Ten more years passed and the boys were tossing the 16-pound shot 42 feet 7 3-4 inches. Ten more years and it had crawled up to something better than 46 feet.

Ralph Rose, the great old Olympic team weight star, was the first man to toss it 50 feet. But he was never able to do so again.

The world's record was 53 feet 1 1-2 inches. That is, it was until yesterday. Jack Torrance, the 275-pound giant from Baton Rouge, tossed the shot 55 feet 11 1-2 inches. He may better that today.

The good old days, did you say, when men were men?

THIS IS NEWS.

A couple of the British Walker cup team members are newspapermen. This is one of the greatest pieces of news since the man picked up the dog and bit him viciously. Because a newspaperman who can play golf was unheard of until the two British cup members came along.

Sam McKinlay and Jock McLean are the two Scots both newspapermen and both good enough "gowfers to make the best amateur team England can assemble for the coming contest with the American team. Mc-Kinlay is practically on his home heath at St. Andrews, where the cup play will be held. And McLean works for a Glasgow paper. England is given its best chance in years to win the Walker cup but the American team remains the favorite.

It is the presence of the two newspapermen on the Walker cup team which is downright fascinating to contemplate. All newspapermen are notoriously poor golfers.

Some of them have been playing golf for 15 years and more and still celebrate joyfully and humbly when they break 100 on some dinky course where a dozen kids and old men are going around each day in the low 80's.

I am quite sure that the worst golf in the world is played in the Atlanta newspaper tournament. Positively the worst golf is played in the tournaments which the sports writers play now and then. There is just one in the city who can break a 90 now and then. The others all stumble around in scores of about 100.

I have seen sports writing men from other cities who could play respectable golf. But the Atlanta delegation continues to be consistently terrible. I can say this because my own game Georgia Piedmont is the worst of them all.

The news that two newspapermen from Scotland have made the Walker cup team is, therefore, very, very startling. It is much more of a news event than a man biting a dog. No Atlanta newspaperman could qualify for the American cup team with a handicap of 56 strokes.

A CALL FOR "CHEM" LONDOS.

Mr. Angelo Hanjaras, one of the Hanjaras brothers at the United cafe where The Constitution employes take on coffee and cakes, has put in a clarion call for "Chemmie" Londos to come over and avenge an insult.

Mr. Hanjaras was at the wrestling match last week when Dick Shikat and Gino Garibaldi were wrestling at the ball park.

He was an interested spectator on the front row, comparing both principals unfavorably with "Chemmie" Londos.

When Chief Chiewchki entered the ring and became involved in a row after challenging the winner he leaped from the ring and grabbed a spectator's shoe with which to attack his foe. It was Mr. Hanjaras' shoe which he grabbed. It was some time before Mr. Hanjaras got his shoe back.

Consequently he is now urging Mr. Henry Weber to match

Fort Mac, Black and White To Play Today at Grant Park.

Two of the outstanding teams of amateur baseball will meet today at the new steel plant diamond when the Atlantic Steel Company meets Gaylord Container Company. Steel plant has won all of its games to date and is one of the most evenly balanced clubs of the city. Managers Spradling and Mayfield have put forth great efforts to build up the club, and they have had the backing of the company officials in doing so. Gaylord won the city championship last year, and they have gone without a defeat in the City league this season. This will be the leading battle of the day.

ATLANTA LEAGUE.

Three Atlanta league games will be played on Saturday and one on Sunday. Grinnell and Exposition Mills will probably furnish the most excitement per square inch, as these two are now in the lead and play each other at Maddox park. From observation of their strength at this time the winner of this game has the best chance to cop the pennant in this league. The Kraft Cheese team is of unknown strength and will be a little weak from having played a game on Mcmorial Day. They meet Southern Spring Bed Company. Linen Service and Postal Employes are both searching around for their strongest lineup and they play at Almand park. Linen Service got away to a good start and won the first game last week.

GEORGIA STATE BOWLING LOOP TO BE FORMED

Eight Teams Besides Atlanta Compose League. Play Begins in June.

By Jack Troy.

Organized bowling in Atlanta, enjoying its greatest season, has now spread over the state and a Georgia state duckpin league is to be formed at a meeting here May 14. The Constitution learned yesterday.

The current season of bowling has been far and away the best since John S. Blick has managed the bowling center in the Candler building.

There has been much talk concerning the new state league among the bowlers participating in the southeastern duckpin tournament in progress at Blick's center. The idea has created unprecedented enthusiasm.

Eight cities, besides Atlanta, are interested. These communities include Dalton, Rome, Macon, Griffin, Demorest, Hapeville, Cartersville and Gainesville.

COMPACT LEAGUE.

COMPACT LEAGUE.

COMPACT LEAGUE.

It will be a compact league and each of the cities is within reasonable driving distance of Atlanta.

Plans are to be made at the meeting here next month to begin play around the first of June and function on a temporary basis throughout the summer. In the fall a permanent organization will be formed.

The schedule of play will include games here and away every other week. Atlanta is the only city where all the teams could be accommodated at the same time.

Together with the tremendous increase of interest here, bowling averages have been stepped up about seventy and three-fifths per cent.

It has come to pass that Atlanta bowlers are now able to hold their own with the best in the country. This was shown when Astor Clarke, national duckpin champion from Washington, appeared here. George McKay, high average bowlers of the city, beat Clarke by something like 70 pins in a special match.

SUMMER BOOST Organization of the state league will boost summer business at the alleys which has not been anything to shout about in the past. And likewise it will promote bowling interest in the smaller communities of the

The plan to introduce bowling on the green in Atlanta for spring and summer play was abandoned some time ago. John Blick will stick to indoor bowling. And why not? Interest is growing at a very healthy rate, indeed.

Beard, Baskin, Snider and Richey Among Aces To Shine for Dixie in Track World.

By Dillon Graham.

It is somewhat unusual that the two southern track coaches who have enjoyed greatest success should regard the tutoring of hurdlers as Wilbur Hutsell, Alabama Polytechnic's veteran mentor, has turned out one fine hurdler after another. A brief list of his better-known products would include Percy Beard, Snitz Snider, Weems Baskin and Lloyd time, 23.5 seconds.

Moore looks for Fisher to perhaps equal Moreau's time of 14.2 seconds this year. Hardin, a junior, is co-holder of the world's record in the 400-meter hurdles and twice last year beat the recognized world mark in the 220-yard low hurdles, turning in 22.8 and 22.8 second races.

Hardin and Fisher seem virtually certain of winning first places in the Southeastern conference hurdle championships and Moore is counting heavily on these boys for points when Louisiana defends its national collegiate title at Los Angeles this summer.

Cracker Batting

M'KEE, PARHAM CLOUT HOMERS

Knoxville Nine Scores in Only One Inning of Contest.

By Jimmy Jones.

By Jimmy Jones.

Just when the Jeremiahs were rising up in all their spring glory to sound the trumpet of doom for the Crackers, Spencer Abbott, that wise old geezer who has been the Moses for more than one despairing minor league ball club, shuffled his lineup yesterday and sent a dashing ball club out of the dugout to blast the Knoxville Smokies at Ponce de Leon park, 8 to 3.

Some of the self-appointed coroners already had held an inquest over the Crackers after the Memorial Day flasco before the smart pitching of Climax Blethen, against which the Crackers looked very impotent indeed. And at least two-thirds of the 500 persons who came out to see yesterday's game in threatening weather, entered the park with the air of pall-bearers, all ready to bear away the corpse.

SURPRISED EM.

SURPRISED 'EM.

But old Spencer Abbott, with a couple of claps of the hands and a gentle nudge or so here and there where it was needed, sent a fighting ball club on the field, which proceeded to give Del Wetherell, a good-looking young right-hander, by the way, what is known as a very neat shellacking.

what is known as a very neat shellacking.

Wetherell, who belongs to the St. Louis Cardinals, had plenty on the ball. He had speed and a good hook. But the Crackers were in a hitting frame of mind and they combed Del's hair for 16 base hits, including a home run by John Windsor McKee, better known as Duck, which that young man smacked over behind the rightield signs in the seventh inning with big Moose Clabaugh on base.

Abbott, who has shown that he can keep his head in spite of the usual series of suggestions, both oral and written, that plague the Cracker managers about this time of year, is not a believer in putting all his eggs in one basket and leaving them to be smashed.

SHEERIN STAR.

Yesterday, he shuffled his lineup about considerably, put McKee back in rightfield, moved the fleet Ray Wise to center and sent Charley Sheerin, the kid, to third base. Sheerin came through with three singles and a triple; Wise got a single and a double and McKee a home run and single.

and a double and McKee a home run and single.

Again Abbott gambled on a rookie pitcher to get the club out of a slump and won a ball game. This time it was Bill Schmidt, the brawny right-hander from Berkeley, California (home city of La Helen, the tennis queen), who came through.

This Schmidt, who is built on the order of one of the redwood trees out there, went the entire route and won his first victory of the season. He scattered the Smokies' dozen hits very well with the exception of the fourth when they bunched five of them for their three runs. It was the first time that Schmidt, who looked good in the exhibition season, had had a chance to pitch an entire game. He pitched and lost the 3-0 affair with Nashville last Sunday that was rained out in the fifth.

Every municipal golfer in the city is invited to participate in the event, being sponsored by Wallace Linquist, the club professional.

JAMES L. KEY.

Qualifying in the James L. Key municipal golfers' association tournament was extended through Sunday afternoon. Only a few good scores have been turned in to date and a large entry is expected today and Sunday.

There is no entry fee, the only requirement is that every participant be a member of the association. Every municipal golfer in the city is eligible to membership.

FORREST HILLS.

Another one-day blind bogsy fourney has been arranged for Forrest Hills golfers this afternoon. The players may select their own handicaps within a prescribed limit.

CAPITAL CITY.

Howard Beckett, professional at the Capital City Club, has arranged ablind bogsy for members of the club for this afternoon. Reservations can be made by calling the professional before noon. The afternoon's play will start at 1 o'clock and reservations should be made with Harry Stephens, the professional, before noon, if possible.

CHICAGO, April 27 .- (AP)-Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, who rested on the (Kiki) Cuyler, who rested on the bench while the Cubs were running up their seven-game winning streak, and Gabby Hartnett, whose bat was of little assistance in that opening burst, came through in the eleventh inning today to break up a mound duel be-tween Lonnie Warneke and Tex Carle-ton and give the Cubs a 3-to-2 victory over the Cardinals.

over the Cardinals.

Cuyler left the bench at the start of the final inning to replace Tut Stainback, who injured a foot in the tenth. He celebrated his debut by poking Carleton's first pitch to left for a single, advanced on Manager Charley Grimm's sacrifice and waited while Bill Jurges drew an intentional pass. Hartnett, who had been held hitless 12 consecutive times at bat, delivered in the pinch with a single to center which brought in the winning rup.

which brought in the winning rup.

It was Warneke's third straight mound victory and while not as impressive as the first two, in which he allowed only one hit each, it was a first-class job of hurling. He granted nine hits, three of them by Buster Mills, who ran his string to seven consecutive blows before being halted, and pitched hitless ball in the last four frames. Lonnie also refused to grant a walk in the 11 frames.

The grant was the only one played

The game was the only one played in the major leagues today as rain and cold halted seven contests and there might have been an excuse for another postponement. Although the weather was clear the temperature hovered around 40 degrees and the wind chilled the "ladies' day" crowd of 23,000, including about 20,000 women guests of the home rlub.

women guests of the home rlub.

The Cubs collected the first run in the second as Babe Herman singled, Stainback forced him at second and Jurges drove a long one to left which fell safe for a double when Joe Medwick misjudged it. St. Louis tied the score in the third when Pepper Martin singled and stole second; advanced to third on Jack Rothrock's single and scored as Chuck Klein made a one-hand catch of Manager Frank Frisch's drive. The Cards went shead in the sixth when Frisch singled, took third on Medwick's base hit and raced home when Collins forced Medwick.

DOCTORS REMOVE OPEN SAFETY PIN, SAVE CHILD'S LIFE

A child's life was saved Friday with only minutes to spare when an open safety pin, lodged in the esophagus of 8-month-old Donald Posey, of Buchanan, was removed by physicians at the Georgia Baptist hospital with a biplane fluoroscope.

A Buchanan doctor rushed the child to Atlanta in his car and was met at the city limits by a police escort, which cleared traffic to the hospital. The baby was choking and was in great danger of strangling to death before reaching the hospital. The operation was performed immediately and the pin, sticking in the throat Ilning, was removed. Later Donald was taken home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Posey.

The flouroscope was used again Friday by the doctors to remove a hone from the throat of John S. Mc-Kenzie, of 1327 Lucile avenue, a 62-year-old butcher. McKenzie said the bone became lodged in his esophagus while he was eating lunch Friday at his home.

MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, April 27.—(UP)—
The stock market tonight appeared anaemic and traders sought vainly in the news for resuscitative factors.

Business news today was only average. Legislative developments were not sufficient to warrant any enthusiasm, either bullish or bearish. Actual market interest ebbed.

Indicative of the market interest was the action of one famous and prominent trader. He plans sailing for Europe shortly. Little by little in the past week he has tossed his long stocks into the market, some in fairly large blocks, so as to clear out commitments before he takes his vacation abroad. There have been other years when this same trader went to Europe and maintained his trading positions, utilizing the cables to keep in touch with Wall Street.

SMALL VOLUME.

Frequent comments were heard to day that this month will show the Cush Grain.

The state of the s weeks, there was an increase of $588,-342,000.

The reduction shown for the latest week, compared with the preceding week was perhaps not greater than it should be as it is the final week of the month; a year ago, as has already been stated, conditions were very different. An increase again appeared at every center, but it was especially heavy at some of the outside cities, notably Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cleveland, Atlanta and Dallas, At Boston clearings for five days this year are compared with six a year.

Figures for leading cities compared with those of last year, are printed herewith; also, daily bank clearings for the year to date:

He only knew that few women, other than La, the high priestess of the Flaming God, had ever so wholly aroused his interest and curiosity. Tomos turned to the under-officer that was guarding Tarzan and Phobeg. "Take them away," he snapped. "Back to their cells until we are ready to destroy "Wait!" said Nemone. "I would know more of this man," and then she turned to Tarzan. "So you came to kill me!" Her voice was smooth, almost caressing. At the moment the woman reminded caressing. At the moment the woman reminded caressing to the cat that is playing with its victim. Tarzan of the cat that is playing with its victim. "Perhaps they chose a good man for the purpose," when said." "You look as though you might be equal to any feat of arms," replied Tarzan, "I do not kill women. I did not come here to kill you." "Then why did you come to Onthar?" inquired the queen in her silky, sinister voice.

OMEN?—One of the last letters written by Captain Robert Scott before he perished in the antarctic will be presented to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd during the broadcast to and from the Byrd expedition to be heard over the WGST-Columbia network tonight from 9 to 9:30 o'clock. Mrs. Edgar Speyer, widow of the late Sir Edgar Speyer, Bart., who was treasurer of Scott's last expedition. will read the letter and make the presentation. Although Byrd is at present in winter quarters far south of Little America, and the letter cannot actually be given to him until he returns to civilization, he will be able to hear Mrs. Spever's message. The document is dated March 16, 1912, and was found with Scott's body by the rescue party sent from England to search for the lost explorer and his party. It tells of the hopelesaness of his position and his despair of ever escaping the fierce grip of the antarctic.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 27.—(P)
The annual spring meeting at Churchill Downs opens tomorrow with the mile and a sixteenth Clark handicap for older horses sharing interest with the six-furlong South Louisville purse for three-year-olds, offered as a tuneup for Kentucky Derby eligibles.
Failure of Callest Six badding

Failure of Gallant Sir, handicap star of Norman W. Church's Northway stable, to arrive at the Downs leaves Colonel E. R. Bradley's entry of Burgoo King and Breker's Tip, both Kentucky Derby winners, the probable public choice for the $2,500 added Clark handicap, a race as old as the Derby itself.

Another tightener for Derby eligi-bles will be offered Tuesday in the preparation purse, a mile race more commonly known as "The Derby Tri-al." The South Louisville and the Preparation will give turf followers a more accurate line on the condition of western hopefuls for the $30,000 added Derby May 5.

Charles T. Fisher's Mata Hari again has been backed into favoritism for the Kentucky Derby, despite the fact just one filly has won the historic classic, only one member of that sex has run second, and five have run The filly honor roll for the Derby follows: Regret, first in 1915: Lady Navarre, second in 1906, and the following thirds: Flamma in 1912, Gowell in 1913, Bronzewing in 1914, Viva America in 1918, and Frudery in 1921.

A special bowling attraction is due to be bowled at Blick's Bowling Center tonight at 7:45 o'clock with two ladies' teams holding the spotlight.

A team from Charlotte, N. C., bowling under the name of Stein's Bowling Alleys, will meet a local team tonight.

A return match will be played at Charlotte the following Saturday.

The local lineup will have Mary Pearson, Lorena Wooten, Mrs. Lindy James, Wilma Yenger, Mrs. Carl Tidwell and several Southern Railway ladies from which to pick their starting lineup.

Another attraction will be a dou-bles contest for men, on a handicap basis, with five games to be bowled. The winners will each receive a hat from De Foor & Austin.

Also a three-game sweepstakes is slated for the ladies with handicaps applying and three merchandise awards be given. Bowling begins at 8 o'clock in both of these special

Emory Sports

Emory University's junior college at Valdosta defeated the Oxford junior college in tennis Friday afternoon at Dewey courts at Emory in the opening encounter of the annual junior college athletic day program eponsored by the university.

The Valdosta entrants won the second and third singles matches and the first doubles, loaing the first singles and the second doubles for a 3-2 victory. They will meet the local Emory freshman net squad at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The two Emory junior colleges annually send representatives from the freshman and sophomore classes to compete against the local junior college teams in tennis and track. The track meet will be held at 9:30.

American Cotton Shippers' Association Hears Attack on Tariff Policies.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 27.—(P) Cotton growers of the south were irged today by J. W. Garrow, presi-

"From them," Garrow said in his presidential address at the annual convention, "the producers have been getting lots of free advices which has proven to be worthless; than they paid for it, for the very good reason that the expenses thereto have been borne by parties with other axes to grind."

Garrow did not name these, but declared that their identity "might be surmised from the fact that the political farm organizations, with all their blustering, have not as yet attacked farm implement prices or profits or denounced the protestive tariff."

"Loss of his individualism is the price this plan exacts from the protended.

"We need not approve everything that President Roosevest has done in order to accord him unstinted praise for his leadership in the early days of his administration." Garrow declared. "There is nothing in our history that quite equals the recovery of public morale coincident with his inauguration."

Much Acceptable.

tacked farm implement prices or profits, or denounced the protestive tariff.

Tariff Policies Hit.

"A radical adjustment in our tariff policies" was advocated by Garrow, whose home is in Houston, Texas. Discussing agricultural and economic policies of the national administration, he said "President Roosevelt has told us that if any of his experiments failed he would be the first to acknowledge it."

"But he should not be left entirely to his own devises, or the importunities of the college professors to determine these facts," the speaker contended.

"We need not approve everything that President Roosevelt has done in order to accord him unstinted praise for his leadership in the early days of his administration," Garrow declared. "There is nothing in our history that quite equals the recovery of public morale coincident with his inauguration."

Much Acceptable.
